If you're an artist that has some experience with the medium of pastel, this workshop will go beyond the ordinary to explore other media that partner well with pastels.

In this session students can experiment with underpainting techniques that take their paintings in a new direction using ink, acrylic and other drawing materials, as well as grounds that create an interesting textured surface on which to apply the pastel.

There will be demonstrations, supportive group discussion and plenty of time to interpret and create pastel paintings from your own references.

Malia's award-winning work has been included in state and national exhibitions. One of her paintings received a first place award in the animal category of Pastel Magazine's Pastel 100 Competition.
